WORKSHEET-1

1. Read the poem carefully. Then answer the questions below.

Animals communicate with one another in many interesting ways. These may consist of signs, gestures, looks, sounds, smells or even light produced by the body. Song and dance are two other means of communication.

When faced with danger, animals warn others using signals such as mock charges, grimace or sound. They also call their friends or inform other members of the group about the sources of food and teach the young the ways of the world. Baby birds call their parents for help and attention and demand food.

Far from being a silent world, the ocean is a noisy place. Fishes, molluscs, sea lions, walruses, whales and dolphins chatter away in the water using a variety of sound-whistles, squeaks, clicks and groans with range from low-pitch to ultrasonic sounds that are beyond the range of human hearing. Whales and dolphins are sometimes called the 'musicians of the sea', as birds are the sky.

Many fishes are known to give distress calls when alarmed. Some fishes, like insects, produce sound by rubbing together parts of their body. Some make a point by grinding their teeth and certain kinds of molluscs do so by striking their two shells together.

The use of biological light is one of the most remarkable forms of animal communication as in the case of deep-sea fish of the dark waters such as fire-flies and glow-worms.

A number of animals also communicate in 'chemical language'. Pheromones are smelly chemicals secreted by some insects to pass messages. Others pick up these messages with the help of antennae where the sense organs are located. Communication within a terminate colony is ensured by using chemical commands.

Mammals communicate largely with facial expressions and sounds. Chimps and gorillas, for example, have a rich variety of expressions that reflect different moods.

The position of the ears, tail, type of look and exposure of teeth are also important means of communicating different messages. For instance, when a rabbit senses danger, it thumps the ground with its hind legs.

A beaver slaps its tail against the water and a gorilla beats its chest.

IMAGINATION

Books are your ticket to anywhere in the world. Even the great George Bernard Shaw felt so!

I used to play at pirates,

And sailed the seven seas.

Then I was a cow boy,

These simple things did me please.

I had a vivid imagination,

Adventures was always on my mind.

I discovered the joys of reading,

And escaped the daily grind.

Once I lived with the Eskimos.

In the land of ice and snow.

Went hunting and a fishing,

My fantasy was all aglow.

I read a book of Jules Verne.

And went off to the moon.

I was just to take a look,

Then it was time to return.

I spent in the forests of Africa,

With Dr Livingstone as my guide

Then off to America,

With Huckleberry Finn I did hide...

In my world of fantasy and imagination,

I performed such wonderful deeds.

A hero of all the nations,

I was the one that did succeed.

Then I grew up, my childish world at an end.

I had become serious it nearly drove me around the bend.

I still do like the mysterious,

a.
